

Communication Intermediary services

Communication Intermediary (CI) Services are available to children, youths and adults who have been diagnosed with Aphasia, Expressive Language difficulties, Cognitive difficulties, Apraxia, Dysarthria, Cleft Palate, Cerebral Palsy, Traumatic Brain Injuries, Schizophrenia, Parkinson's, Autism, Asperger's, ALS, Multiple Sclerosis, Learning Disabilities and other conditions affecting their ability to communicate. The services are available for those in need in the justice or family courts. Our registered CIs work with children, youths or adults who require assistance to communicate with police, lawyers and other judicial professionals.

Our services are provided by experienced Speech-Language Pathologists with additional training from the Communication Disabilities Access Canada (CDAC). We also deal in matters associated with the Family Court system: child custody cases, estate planning, adoption, and other related matters including capacity assessments for vulnerable children and adults experiencing communication difficulties.

Our services are available in English and in French in compliance with the new “Language Rights” in Ontario which takes effect on February 1, 2022.

We welcome clients, lawyers, or other professionals to call to discuss the required services because each case is unique.
